

Kovacs Ltd. core activities: Metalworking and die-forging. Our basic technologies: CNC machining, die-forging, heat treatment and painting. Our company has set itself the goal of pursuing its activities by considering environmental aspects. Environmentally aware attitudes and eco-friendly operations are important elements of the basic company philosophy.

The environmental management system of Kovács Kft. composed in accordance with standard ISO 14001:2004 is implemented in strict accordance with the quality management system of our company. Our aim is to achieve an environmental performance that we can be proud of, to win the confidence of our customers and stakeholders, to succeed in being a good neighbor, and to contribute to sustainable development.

To achieve our goals :

- We are committed to preventing pollution, striving to continuously reduce our environmental emissions and increase energy efficiency; we consider the potential of renewable energy to be important and to reduce greenhouse gas emissions
- We comply with environmental laws, decisions and standards applicable to our activities, as well as internal regulations; we pay special attention to prevention of environmental non-compliance, paying attention to the environmental reputation of our company
- We set environmental targets, which we implement within the framework of environmental programmes, continuously monitoring their fulfilment.
- During our activities, in the case of waste generated from our technologies, our primary goal is the selective collection and transportation of waste and, if possible, to recycling it.
- In our activities, energy and materials are used economically and saved; we pay attention to the quality of the water, pay attention to the consumption; particular attention will be given to air quality, the management of natural resources and waste reduction
- We evaluate our environmental performance on a specific regular basis and, taking this into account, we continuously improve our environmental management system.
- We regularly inform our employees about the performance and changes of our environmental management system and have up-to-date information.
- We expect our suppliers to carry out their activities in accordance with the requirements of the environmental management system we operate, in accordance with the legal requirements.
- The Company considers the implementation of environmental awareness and the spread of environmentally conscious thinking among its employees, suppliers and subcontractors to be of the utmost importance in order to satisfy the stakeholders at a higher level and to contribute to sustainable development.
- We expect from our employees to work environmentally consciously, which is helped by regular trainings; responsible chemical management also plays an important role in our information.

Mezőkövesd, 07. March. 2022

István Kovacs
manager
